1 During the December 5, 2012, Final Approval Hearing, Netflix, Inc. (“Netflix”) requested,
2 and the Court granted, leave to submit supplemental information to the Court, specifically
3 additional information regarding the connections between certain of the proposed Cy Pres
4 recipients and Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati (“WSGR”). The following supplements
5 paragraph 34 of the Declaration of Jay Edelson in Support of Plaintiffs’ Motion for Final Approval
6 of Settlement and Award of Attorneys’ Fees, Expenses, and Incentive Award. (Dkt. No. 191-3).
7 The proposed Cy Pres recipients reported the following connections with WSGR (as quoted from 8 their proposals):

9 The Berkeley Center for Law & Technology (“BCLT”):

10 “The law firm of Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati contributed $25,000 to 11 BCLT in 2012.”

12 The Center for Democracy & Technology (“CDT”):

13 “Netflix’s counsel Wilson Sonsini purchased a table at CDT’s 2011 annual 14 fundraising dinner for $7500.”

15 The High Tech Law Institute (“HTLI”) of Santa Clara University School of Law:

16 “Rod Strickland, Esq., counsel for defendant, is an alumnus of Santa Clara
17 University School of Law.

18 The law firm of Wilson, Sonsini, Goodrich & Rosati (WSGR) is presently a paid
19 participant in the HTLI benefactor program, which includes a seat on the HTLI 20 High Tech Advisory Board (currently occupied by James Yoon, Esq., a patent litigation partner). Mr. Yoon is also an adjunct professor at Santa Clara Law.
The most recent benefactor relationship began in spring of 2012.

21 Assistant Professor Brian Love was “of counsel” to WSGR in summer 2012 22 before officially joining the SCU faculty. Professor Love does not play an administrative role in the High Tech Law Institute.

23 WSGR did not contribute any funds to the High Tech Law Institute in 2011;
24 however, it donated $2,500 to Santa Clara Law in 2011.

25 Rod Strickland did not contribute any funds to the High Tech Law Institute in 26 2011; however, he was a donor to Santa Clara Law in 2011.”
